

TREESHA

Treesha Born Patricia Wambui Mwaura was born in the beautiful city of Nairobi in Kenya. She started singing at the age of 8. Her musical talent is groomed and influenced by her father (the Late Captain John Ben Mwaura) who also sang and played the guitar and inspired by artists like Aretha Franklin, Mary J Blige Tracy Chapman, Bob Marley, and Beyonce.

After moving to Europe and finishing her trainee as a medical assistant, Treasha joined the International reggae sensation Gentleman as a background vocalist where she is still present.

She started working with the Evolution band, mainly Giuseppe Coppola, Tobias Zepezauer and Frank Pollak, which resulted in a bunch of songs for her debut album "Listen".

Her experience on the road made Treasha meet Skarra Mucci, who then decided to sign her on his label and release her first longplayer. The album created waves in the reggae cosmos and is still in high demand.

Two songs from her album („We need love“ feat. Denham Smith and „Don't do it!) were chart breakers on the german reggae charts presented by Jugglerz Radio and Riddim magazine. LISTEN!

The logo for King Stone, featuring a crown above the word "King" and "STONE" below it, all in a stylized, handwritten font.